The Labor Standards (Wage and Hour) Unit administers a wide range of laws that protect and promote the interests of Rhode Island's 500,000 workers. This Unit also devotes considerable resources, primarily through seminars and educational materials, to encourage and assist Rhode Island's 35,000 employers to comply with the wage and hour laws.

Major areas of enforcement of this unit include Payment of Wages, Vacation Pay, Minimum Wage, Overtime, Work on Sundays and Holidays, RI Parental & Family Medical Leave, Record Keeping, and hours and work of minor employees.

Some of the following pages come directly from the RI Employer Handbook and Digest of Labor Laws. The full version of the Handbook is available online at www.dlt.ri.gov/lmi/publications/handbook.htm.

A Message From the Director

The Department of Labor and Training is pleased to present this Guidebook to our clients, in particular to the employers doing business in Rhode Island.

Rhode Island has been enforcing Wage and Hour Laws since 1940 when Public Law Chapter 895 was enacted. The Labor Standards (Wage and Hour) Unit now administers labor laws affecting over 500,000 Rhode Island workers, and approximately 35,000 employers through the enforcement of provisions relating to child labor, parental and family medical leave, and payment of wages including minimum wage, overtime, and fringe benefits upon termination. Record-keeping requirements are also enforced. Over the years, numerous amendments have been made, and as with most laws, those affecting "Wage and Hour" have been subject to varying interpretations. We are hopeful that this will serve as both a convenient reference and an educational tool that is equally user-friendly and informative.

Since employers utilize many of the services offered by the Department of Labor and Training, we have enclosed a directory for the Labor Standards (Wage and Hour) Unit as well as the DLT Career Centers and reemployment offices.

We recognize that employers must be well-informed to operate their businesses within the boundaries of the law. It is with this in mind that we are providing employers with this reference, as well as Seminars for Employers. We are confident that with the Department of Labor and Training's website, all the information being made available will provide the necessary tools to assist you in complying with Rhode Island's Labor Laws.

As with any guidebook, we could not cover all situations, and it does not replace actual Rhode Island General Statutes and regulations and/or court decisions. Contact our Labor Standards (Wage and Hour) Unit or your legal advisor for more detailed information.

Warm regards,

Mull

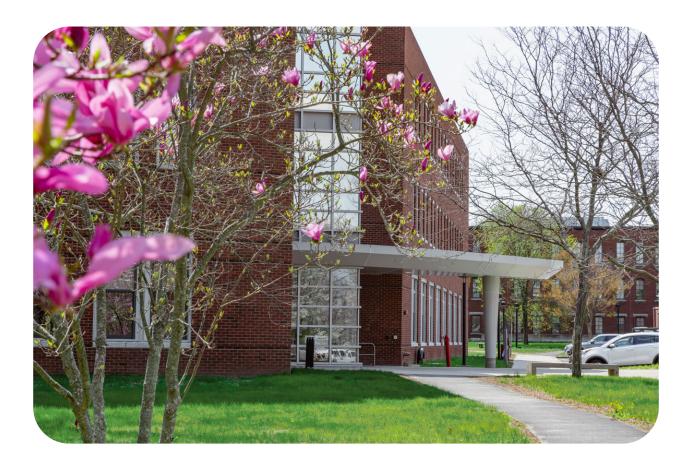

Matt Weldon

Director

Rhode Island Department of Labor and Training

WHAT IS THE MINIMUM WAGE? WHAT ARE THE EXCEPTIONS?

As of January 1, 2024, the minimum wage is $14.00 per hour. Exemptions include minors, 14-15 years of age working 24 hours or less. They may be paid 75% of the minimum wage = $10.50 per hour. If a minor works over 24 hours, all hours must be paid at the minimum wage. For more information on the minimum wage, including a link to the law, please visit our minimum wage web page at https://dlt.ri.gov/regulation-and-safety/labor-standards/minimum-wage.

Other exemptions: Individuals working in or about a private home, traveling salespersons or outside salespersons, individuals employed by his/her son, daughter, or spouse, and services performed by a child under the age of 21 in the employ of his/her mother or father, persons employed between May 1 and October 1 in a resort establishment which regularly serves meals to the general public and which is open for business not more than six months a year, persons employed by an organized camp which does not operate for more than seven months in any calendar year.

WHAT IS THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR WAIT STAFF?

WHAT TYPES OF RECORDS OF HOURS MUST BE KEPT AND WHO IS EXEMPT?

I WORK FOR A MANUFACTURER ON SUNDAYS; HOW SHOULD I BE PAID? EXEMPTIONS?

Hourly-paid employees must receive time and one-half the normal hourly rate of pay.

Exceptions include employees working in agriculture or maritime trades, physicians, dentist, attorneys at law or accountants, health care or maintenance (hospitals, nursing homes, etc.), restaurants, hotels, motels, summer camps, resorts, or other recreational facility (except health clubs), salaried employees in a bona fide executive, professional or administrative capacity, telephonic delivery of customer service, sales operations, and ancillary services related thereto except for employment in the telecommunications industry which is part of any collective bargaining agreement or employment contract.

IF I WORK MORE THAN 40 HOURS IN A WEEK AND 8 HOURS ON A HOLIDAY, HOW AM I TO BE PAID?

If you work in non-retail, the hours over 40 are to be paid at time and one-half, the holiday is to be paid at time and one-half and the remainder is to be paid straight time. Example: Total hours 60 and eight of these hours were worked on a holiday. Extract the overtime hours from the total = 20, these hours are to be paid at time and one half. Extract the eight from the remaining forty = 32. Eight hours are to be paid time and one-half premium pay for working the holiday and 32 hours are straight time.

If you work in retail, the holiday hours are extracted first and paid at time and one half. If there are hours over 40 in the balance, these hours are to be paid at time and one half also. Example: Same as above, extract the holiday hours from the total hours and the balance is 52. The eight hours are to be paid at time and one-half premium pay. Because there are hours over forty in the balance, these 12 hours must be paid at time and one half for the overtime. The balance of 40 is paid at straight time. The city/town councils shall grant licenses for the sale by retail establishments at any place in that town or city designated in those licenses on Sundays.

IF I AM PAID HOURLY, SHOULD I BE PAID WEEKLY?

The employer makes payment of wages regularly on a predesignated date no less than twice per month; and

3.) The employer provides proof of a surety bond or other sufficient demonstration of security in the amount of the highest biweekly payroll exposure in the preceding year for the employees subject to the petition; 4.) If the involved employees are subject to collective bargaining, the employer provides the written consent of the collective bargaining representative for all involved employees.

HOW AM I TO BE PAID, AND HOW IS A PAYDAY ESTABLISHED?

Every employer must establish a regular payday on which wages shall be paid in full in lawful money of the United States or checks on banks convertible into cash on demand. Every payday shall fall within nine (9) days of the end of a payroll period. Every employee shall be notified in writing or by posted notice that may be readily seen, of a change in the scheduled payday at least three (3) paydays in advance of a scheduled change.

IS IT A LAW THAT I SHOULD BE RECEIVING A STATEMENT OF EARNINGS (PAY STUB)?

On every regular payday, the employer shall furnish to any employee a statement of the hours worked during the applicable pay period, a record of all deductions made from that employee's gross earnings with an explanation of the basis or reason for such deductions.

WHAT IS THE VACATION LAW?

Whenever an employee is separated from the payroll of an employer, after completing at least one (1) year of service, any vacation pay accrued by collective bargaining, company policy, or other agreement between employer and employee shall become wages and payable in full or on a prorated basis with all other due wages on the next regular payday for the employee.

I WORK ON A CASH REGISTER AND AT TIMES THE DRAWER IS SHORT. CAN THE EMPLOYER DEDUCT THE SHORTAGE FROM MY PAY?

An employer may not deduct for shortages, damages, rent, uniforms, or any other reason (except applicable taxes). An employer may make a deduction for a loan or advance against future earnings if evidenced by a statement in writing signed by the employee with the amount to be deducted each pay period. The statement may read "balance due upon separation."

GRATUITIES (TIPS) AND GRATUITY ALLOWANCE

Gratuities shall mean voluntary monetary compensation received by the employee for services rendered. An employee working in an occupation where it is customary to receive gratuities must be paid the stated minimum rates. However, in any week when the wages for such an employee are computed, the employer may credit tips so received as part of the wages under the following conditions:

The amount of gratuities credited may not exceed 50% of the applicable minimum wage. From time to time the mandated employer's minimum contribution toward service employee's wages may exceed the amount required by the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. Where there is coverage under both state and federal law the higher or more restrictive standard takes precedence.

The employer must have received and kept as part of permanent payroll records for that week a statement signed by the employee certifying the amount of gratuities, as credited, has been received.

Effective 7/1/99, gratuity allowance may be taken for bus persons in the same manner as wait staff. The Director of Labor and Training will accept the following statement, when filled out and signed by the worker, as substantial evidence that the amount of gratuities claimed by the employer as part of the minimum wage was received by the employee. N.B.: The worker must fill in the amount of tips and sign. (File with payroll records)

Workers signing for gratuities to be deducted from the minimum wage are entitled to a hearing in the Division of Labor Standards, if they so desire. (General Law 28-12-5)

WORKERS WITH DISABILITIES

The Director of Labor and Training may provide by regulation, after a public hearing at which any person may be heard, for the employment in any occupation at wages lower than the wage rates applicable under this chapter of individuals whose earning capacity is impaired by physical or mental disability as he or she may find appropriate to prevent curtailment of employment opportunities, to avoid undue hardship, and to safeguard the applicable wage rates under this chapter. No employee shall be employed at wages fixed pursuant to this section except under a special license issued under applicable regulations of the director of labor and training. (General Law 28-12-9)

WAGE AND HOUR RECORDS

Every employer shall keep complete and accurate records for all employees as follows: Names, addresses, and ages of all workers, occupations, wage rates, hours worked each day and each week, and wages paid each pay period. Such records must be kept on file for at least three (3) years after the entry of the record and must be open to inspection by the Department of Labor and Training at any reasonable time. Firms covered by the provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act are required to keep records on file for three (3) years from the date of entry. (General Law 28-14-12)

WAGE PAYMENT AND COLLECTION

All employers, including the state and its political subdivisions, shall establish a regular payday within nine (9) days from the end of the payroll period on which all wages shall be paid in full in cash or checks on banks convertible into cash on demand at full face value.

Frequency of payment [Effective January 1, 2014] –every employee, other than employees of the state and its political subdivisions, and of religious, literary, or charitable corporations, shall be paid weekly all due wages from his or her employer, except those employees whose compensation is fixed at a biweekly, semi-monthly, monthly or yearly rate. The director may, upon written petition showing good and sufficient reason, permit employers in the state of Rhode Island to pay less frequently than weekly if they follow the procedure as outlined in RI GL 28-14-2.2.

Notice of any changes in a scheduled payday shall be given to employees at least three (3) paydays in advance of the change.

On payday, each employer shall furnish to each employee a pay envelope or other statement showing gross wages, net wages paid, hours worked, legal deductions made, an explanation of the basis or reason for such deduction, and, for employers engaged only in the commercial construction industry, a record of the employee's hourly regular rate of pay. As used in this subsection, the term commercial construction industry will include a business that engages in the doing of work or the furnishing of materials, or both, in the building, erection, alteration, or preparation of an improvement on commercial real property.

The net wages of any employee may, with the consent of both the employee and the employer, be deposited directly into the employee's checking, savings, or share account in a financial organization selected by the employee. Rhode Island law protects workers against nonpayment of wages and provides penalties for violations. The Director of Labor and Training is empowered to collect wages if claims are filed within three (3) years of the date earned. (General Law 28-14-20)

DEDUCTIONS

Except for federal taxes, state taxes, and social security charges, deductions from wages are not permitted, however, any employer granting his employee a loan or advance against future earnings or wages may deduct the same as a setoff or counterclaim only if evidenced by a statement in writing signed by said employee.

Deductions for alleged damage to the employer's property or for rent due employer are specifically prohibited. Also barred are deductions connected with past or present indebtedness.

Deductions from an employee's wages for pension, welfare, vacation, health plan, and annuity of life coverage are allowed without the employee's written permission, provided a collective bargaining agreement is in force.

Deductions for union dues, health care coverage, United Way, payroll savings, stock purchase, pension plan, or insurance are permitted with the written authorization of the employee. Deductions of premium for prepaid legal services are permitted with the written authorization of the employee. (General Law 28-14)

Whenever an employer shall provide for a payroll deduction for any purpose, the employer shall transfer those funds deducted to the appropriate person, agency, partnership, or corporation entitled to the monies deducted, within twenty-one (21) days following the last day of the month in which the deduction is made, except, when the person, agency, partnership or corporation entitled to monies deducted permits otherwise in writing. (General Law 28-14-3.1)

Wages upon Separation - Whenever an employee is separated from the payroll, the unpaid wages or compensation of such employee shall become due on the next regular payday and payable at the usual place of payment.

Wages upon Separation as Vacation Pay - Whenever an employee is separated from the payroll of an employer, after completing at least one (1) year of service, any vacation pay accrued by collective bargaining, company policy, or other agreement between employer and employee shall become wages and payable in full or on a prorated basis with all other due wages on the next regular payday for the employee.

Benefits as Wages - Whenever an employer separates an employee from the payroll as a result of said employer liquidating the business, merging the business, disposing of the business, or removing the business out of state, all wages become immediately due and payable within twenty-four (24) hours of the time of separation at the usual place of payment, additionally, if said employee has completed at least one (1) year of service with said employer, holiday pay, vacation pay in full or on a prorated basis and insurance benefits due such employee under a collective bargaining agreement, company policy or other agreement between said employer and employee shall be considered as unpaid wages due and payable within twenty-four (24) hours of the time of separation at the usual place of payment.

Attachments or Garnishments - Federal law defines wages that may be attached as disposable earnings, or those earnings left after payment of legal deductions for federal and state taxes. Only (a) 25% of disposable earnings or (b) the amount by which the disposable earnings exceed thirty (30) times the Federal minimum hourly wage may be garnished.

Employees who have been on relief are exempt from attachment for one (1) year after the debtor ceases receiving relief. An employee may not be discharged for more than one garnishment if made for the same debt. Wage garnishment exemption does not apply to court orders regarding alimony or child support. (General Law 9-26-4)

CHILD LABOR - EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS

Under 14: No child under 14 years of age may be employed at any time in any capacity except in a private home or on a farm. (General Law 28-3)

Minors 14 and 15 years of age: Part-time and vacation employment in business and mercantile establishments is allowed only by permit from the local school department for minors 14 and 15 years of age. Such employment shall not take place during the hours when school is in session and shall not exceed eight (8) hours in any one day or forty (40) hours in any one week and shall not take place before 6 A.M. nor after 7 P.M. (9 P.M. during school vacation). Federal law prohibits employment over three (3) hours per day on school days, or over eighteen (18) hours per week- when school is in session. This more stringent standard must be adhered to whenever the establishment is covered by the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. Minors under 16 are not permitted to work in factories, manufacturing, mechanical or processing establishments in any capacity at any time. (General Law 28-3-1, 28-3-11)

Any minor between the ages of 16 and 18 may be employed during school vacations without limitations as to the total hours to be worked in a given week or calendar day, provided the provisions of all other applicable federal and state laws and regulations are complied with.

Minors 16 and 17 years of age: Under a 1980 amendment 16 and 17-year-old workers who have left school are no longer restricted by a curfew. However, 16 and 17-year-old students are not permitted to work between the hours of 11:30 P.M. and 6:00 A.M. the following day if that day is a school day. When no classes are scheduled, the curfew is extended to 1:30 A.M.

No minor, 16 or 17 years of age, shall work more than 48 hours in any one week, nor more than nine (9) hours in any one day unless the 48 hours are worked in five (5) days. In which case, the minor may work 9 3/5 hours per day.

There shall be an interval (or period of cessation of work) of not less than eight (8) hours between the ending of the period of work on one calendar day and the beginning of a period of work on the subsequent day. (General Law 28-3-11)

SICK AND SAFE LEAVE

As of July 1, 2018, most RI employees have the legal right to earn sick and safe leave from work per RI General Law §28-57. The Healthy and Safe Families and Workplaces Act gives Rhode Island employees the right to take time off from work to care for themselves when they are too sick to work, are injured, or have a routine medical appointment. They may also use earned leave to deal with the impact of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking. In addition, they may use earned leave to assist their child, spouse, domestic partner, or other member of their household for the same purposes.

Employers with 18 or more employees must provide paid sick and safe leave. Employers with 17 or fewer employees must provide earned sick and safe leave, but it does not need to be paid.

Employees may earn sick/safe leave based on their employer's policy, or, under this act, they are entitled to earn at least one hour of sick/safe leave for every 35 hours worked. Time starts accruing on the first day of employment. Starting in 2020, full-time employees may earn and use up to 40 hours per year. Once the annual cap is reached, accrual stops. Employers may elect to offer more. Potential waiting periods to use earned leave are:

- 90 days for new employees;
- 180 days for temporary employees;
- 150 days for seasonal employees.

Employers may not take adverse action against an employee for attempting to exercise their legal right to use earned sick/safe leave. Examples include denying the use of time, giving undesirable assignments, reducing work hours, or demotion.

PAY EQUITY ACT

Pursuant to Rhode Island General Law § 28- 6-18, it is unlawful for an employer to pay a differential wage based on race, color, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity or expression, disability, age, and country of ancestral origin for comparable work. Please visit the www.dlt.ri.gov/regulation-and-safety/labor-standards website for a list of factors when the differential wage is permissible.

Employers are prohibited from inquiring into or requiring the disclosure of a job applicant's wage history, from relying upon a job applicant's wage history when considering the individual's candidacy, and from setting a minimum or maximum threshold of prior wage earnings as a condition of employment.

Pursuant to Rhode Island General Law § 28-6-18, it is unlawful for an employer to prohibit employees from discussing wages or asking other employees about their wages. Employers may not request or require that employees or applicants waive the right to discuss wages.

Any discriminatory or disciplinary action taken against an employee for exercising these rights under the Act, or for opposing any practice made unlawful by the Act, is prohibited.

Independent Contractors have an independent trade, business, or profession. Their services are offered to the public and they have the right to control the means and methods of how the work is performed. The RI DLT enforces the US DOL Economic Realties Test when determining if a worker is an employee or an independent contractor.

- Civil penalties may be brought forth by the Department if it is established that an employer misclassified one or more employee(s) as independent contractors.

LUNCH PERIOD

A twenty-minute meal period must be given during a six-hour shift, and a thirty-minute meal period must be given during an eight-hour shift. This does not include healthcare facilities or companies employing less than three employees at one site during a shift.

INDUSTRIAL HOMEWORK

Rhode Island law provides for the strict control and gradual elimination of industrial homework. The Director of Labor and Training may issue licenses to employers in certain industries to distribute work or processing by home workers certified by the department. No homework licenses may be issued to industries that have not been susceptible to effective regulation.

CONTRACT SHOPS

Contract shops servicing the jewelry industry may operate only under an annual permit issued through the Division of Labor Standards. The permit fee is one hundred twenty dollars ($120) per year, renewable October 1, each year. No jewelry contract work may be processed except in a shop and location approved and registered with the division. No jewelry work may be processed in any home or part thereof. (General Law 28-18)

PARENTAL AND FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE

The Rhode Island law is a parental and family leave statute that applies to all employers that employ fifty (50) or more employees. It states that every employee who has worked for his/her employer for at least twelve (12) months must be given thirteen (13) consecutive weeks of parental or family leave in any two (2) calendar years. The statute requires employees to give advance notice of up to thirty (30) days of the intended starting and ending dates unless prevented from doing so by a medical emergency.

Under this law, an employee may take parental or family leave for one of three reasons: The birth of the employee's child; the adoption of a child 16 years of age or less by the employee; or the serious illness of a family member or the employee him or herself. Upon expiration of the leave, the employee must either be restored to the position he or she previously held when the leave commenced, or to a position with like seniority, status, benefits, pay, and other terms and conditions of employment; including fringe benefits and service credits that the employee had been entitled to at the commencement of the leave. The health insurance provisions in the law provide that an employer is obligated to continue the employee's health insurance benefits, but that the employee can be required to pay the premiums before his/her departure. If the employee returns, the employer is obligated to return the amounts paid within ten (10) days after the employee's return to employment.

An employee who has been employed by the same employer for twelve (12) consecutive months shall be entitled to a total of ten (10) hours of leave during any twelve (12) month period to attend school conferences or other school-related activities for a child of whom the employee is the parent, foster parent or guardian. The employee must provide a twenty- four (24) hour prior notice of the leave and make a reasonable effort to schedule the leave to not unduly disrupt the operation of the employer.

LIE DETECTOR TESTS PROHIBITED

No employer or agent of any employer shall require or subject any employee to any lie detector tests as a condition of employment or continued employment. (General Law 28-6.1-1)

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS

Whenever any employer shall require a physical examination before employment, the cost of such examination shall be paid by the employer whether or not the prospective employee is hired. (General Law 28-6.2-1)

GENETIC TESTING

No employer, employment agency or licensing agency shall request, require or administer a genetic test to any person as a condition of employment, or affect the terms, conditions, or privileges of employment or licensure or terminate the employment or licensure of any person who obtains a genetic test. No person may sell to or interpret for an employer, employment agency, or licensing agency a genetic test of a current or prospective employee or licensee. (General Law 28-6.7-1)

EMPLOYER TRANSPORTATION SERVICE CHARGE

No employer or agent of a temporary placement staffing agency shall require its employee to provide transportation to other employees as a condition of employment, charge an employee for transport services provided to that employee, or charge or collect fees from its employees for transportation services provided by other employees, the employer, or by a subcontracted transportation company. Any employer as defined, may purchase public transportation bus passes and deduct not more than fifty percent (50%) of the actual cost of the bus pass from an employee's total daily wages, provided, however, that the employee participation in an employer public transportation bus pass program shall be strictly voluntary and shall require the express written authorization of the employee, in the employee's primary language. Any employer may offer transportation services to an employee and charge a fee, payable to the employer only, for such services provided the amount charged is not more than the actual cost to transport such employee and the amount does not exceed three dollars ($3.00) per day. Employee participation in an employer transportation program shall be strictly voluntary and shall require the express written authorization of the employee, in the employee's primary language. (General Law 28-6.11)

Through our Employer Engagement Team, the Department offers a multitude of services to employers to assist with every stage of business growth. These services are customized to meet the demands of your business. Business Service Specialists can develop job orders, coordinate recruitments/hiring events, as well as provide access to programs that support partial wage reimbursement, employee training support, and tax credit information supporting new hires and incumbent workers. Business Service Specialists are available at our Career Centers above or can visit you on-site at your location.

The Employer Engagement Team proactively responds to businesses experiencing economic downturn by quickly coordinating services and providing aid to companies and their affected workers. We partner with Income Support, Healthsource RI, and United Way to make sure those who are impacted by a planned transition have access to services right away. The team works with businesses to offer supports to workers before, during, and after a planned transition. Employers may visit any of the career centers listed above, or email dlt.esu@dlt.es
